

Press Release August 2022: "What Do Celebrities & Influential Leaders Believe In? Revelations with Spiritual Guru Asim Aliloski"

Industry: Lifestyle / People / Wellness / Health / Spirit / Business

"What do celebrities & influential leaders believe in?" As you know, celebrities and influential leaders are role models for young and old generations, and they can influence society and impact the world negatively and positively. Spiritual leader and multi-award-winning life coach Asim Aliloski has seen that successful people on top of their game have been searching for a higher power.

Oprah Winfrey has been very candid about the differences between her spirituality and her Christian religion. In 2015, Winfrey went to Stanford University to speak on spiritual practice. "I'm not telling you what to believe or who to believe, or what to call it," said Winfrey. "But there is no full life, no fulfilled or meaningful, sustainably joyful life without a connection to the spirit." Nevertheless, is there a definition of God that everybody can relate to? According to spiritual coach Asim Aliloski, God is Eternal Love, Light and Power, and we human beings can embody these higher qualities when we commit to our spiritual evolution. Since 26, Asim has had several spiritual awakenings that have led him to natural states of total divine bliss and oneness. "This may appear to be instant enlightenment, but it is not." According to Asim, these enlightened states resulted from his decades-long commitment to inner healing, shadow work, and spiritual practice. Also, Emma Watson said, "My interest in meditation was born of a curiosity for Buddhism. I started being interested in a literary way, but I realised that reading books wasn't enough – that you have to practice for it to work. So, I started it, and I love it!"

Brad Pitt is talking about "we're all connected."

People magazine asked Angelina Jolie what she learned about spirituality from filming her 2014 film "Unbroken", which the late war hero Louis Zamperini inspired. "I don't know if there's a name for that -- religion or faith -- just that there's something greater than all of us, and it's uniting and beautiful," Jolie said. Also, her ex-husband Brad Pitt opened up about his spirituality in a GQ cover story and touched on his evolution regarding believing in a higher power. "I found myself coming back to just belief in — I hate to use the word spirituality, but just believe that we're all connected," he said. Spiritual leader Asim Aliloski says true spirituality is about awakening your power and aligning it with higher values of love, peace and unity. It has nothing to do with hell or heaven if you behave a certain way.

When looking at the everyday practices of successful entrepreneurs, meditation is the one that everyone agrees on. Billionaire businessman Ray Dalio credits his entire career and wealth to the power of transcendental meditation and mindfulness practice every day. Other CEOs such as the founder of Def Jam records, Russell Simmons, former Yahoo executive Jeff Weiner and deceased Apple guru Steve Jobs have been known for their spiritual propensity.

It is obvious why more successful people are keen on exploring their divine nature. Asim Aliloski thinks that the need for a greater power becomes stronger with a higher career ladder. "Sometimes you need God as your co-pilot because you can't handle everything by yourself when you get on top of your game", says Asim. His mission is to help people eliminate the separation between them and the Divine and deepen a healthy relationship with God.
